FULL YEAR' S MOT

2007 Mitsubishi Shogun Warrior auto, seven seater

GET READY FOR WINTER!!

142k miles. Full year's MOT

This has been my personal vehicle for the past six years.

In my ownership it has wanted for nothing and has had an impeccable service history with me

I am particular about regular oil changes.

Last service was in June (less than 1k ago) and included a gearbox oil change. It is recommended that auto gearbox oil is changed every 30k. It has been done twice in my ownership and wont need looked at for another 30k

I have all the old MOTs from my ownership and the bill of sale from when I bought it.

It has had a lot of maintenance done as part of it's upkeep including, all discs and wheel bearings replaced in my ownership, new rear exhaust approximately six months ago, and a steering coupling which is a common part to seize up in the winter, around two months ago.

It's old (but sturdy.) and as such there are a few battle scars picked up along the way. The rear wheel arches are a common rust area caused by a plastic moulding on the door trapping dirt against them. As you can see from the pics I have a rubber skirt stuck on to stop them getting worse. (not an MOT issue as cosmetic only). The sills around the jacking points was a bit thin so I had heavy duty steel sections professionally welded in, no problem lifting it now. Albeit the steel was so thick the sill sits out a little bit.

Inside it has all the usual Warrior trim, inc multimedia and DVD player with Sat Nav and reverse cam. It keeps jumping between radio stations but I don't listen to much so it never bothered me (replacement unit £150 on ebay.) The only other fault is the cruise control which works but the switch on the steering wheel is a bit iffy. Other than that it goes, it stops, could pull a train behind it and get anywhere off road. The Super Select system works perfectly with all low ratio and diff lock functions. The tyres are all terrains with plenty of tread and with a year's MOT what more do you need. It's built like a tank and the engine will do 300k.

The same year and miles across the water are selling for over £4k. I'm not going to be greedy so mine is £3895. It's the cheapest out there so grab a bargain. No texts offering me half that. If you have a genuine interest call me and we can chat about it.
