The 2014 Audi A4 2.0 TDI 177 Quattro Black Edition is a sophisticated blend of performance, efficiency, and luxury, making it an appealing choice in the premium estate (Avant) market. Below is a detailed breakdown of its key specifications:

Engine and Performance At the heart of this Audi A4 is a 2.0-liter turbocharged diesel engine (TDI) that produces 177 horsepower (hp) and 380 Nm of torque. This robust power output allows for brisk acceleration, with the car capable of reaching 0-62 mph (0-100 km/h) in approximately 7.9 seconds. The top speed is around 138 mph (222 km/h), making it not only a comfortable family car but also a potent performer on the motorway. The engine is mated to Audi's Quattro all-wheel-drive (AWD) system, which provides excellent traction and stability, particularly in adverse weather conditions. This ensures a secure driving experience whether on wet roads or rough terrain, making it highly versatile for different environments. The power is transmitted through a 6-speed manual gearbox, providing a more engaging driving experience for those who prefer manual control over their driving dynamics.

Fuel Efficiency and Emissions Despite its strong performance, the 2.0 TDI engine is renowned for its efficiency. The car delivers an impressive combined fuel economy of approximately 51.4 mpg (miles per gallon) or 5.5 L/100 km. This means lower running costs for both city and motorway driving, making it an economical choice for long-distance travelers. It emits around 134 g/km of CO<sub>2</sub>, placing it in a relatively low tax band for a vehicle of its class.
