The clue is in the name with the Range Rover Sport. If you like the idea of a Range Rover but want a bit more 'Sport' in your luxury SUV, Land Rover hopes this is the car for you. It's an alluring recipe. And a clever one too. You see, the Range Rover Sport is based on the same platform as its full-fat sibling, and that means it benefits from the bigger car's luxurious interior, class-leading off-road tech and impressive engine line-up. The Range Rover Sport has all that in a package that's more compact, more nimble and arguably more useable than the longer and taller Range Rover.
